

Peloton Grows Plano Campus By More Than 100,000 Square Feet

December 9, 2020

Expanded footprint to add new jobs for member support, sales, field operations, and corporate functions

PLANO, Texas, Dec. 9, 2020 /PRNewswire/ -- Peloton (NASDAQ:PTON), the leading interactive fitness platform, today announced it is adding 103,750 square feet of space to its Peloton Plano Campus. The additional space allows the company to significantly expand its current business presence and supports Peloton's plans to bring up to 1,600 more jobs in a variety of corporate functions and experience levels to the North Texas location.

"One of the main reasons we chose to open our Plano Campus in 2018 was the centralized location and deep pool of customer support and technology expertise in the region," said Mariana Garavaglia, Peloton's Chief Business Operations Officer. "Peloton has grown tremendously in the last two years, and we're thrilled this larger footprint will allow us to bring key leadership and managerial roles, along with additional entry level positions to the area."

Peloton continues to invest in the region and anticipates growing the workforce for a number of years. The company plans to hire employees across a variety of teams to be housed in the new space, including People, sales, field operations, and corporate functions, such as finance and enterprise technology.

"Thanks to Texas' business-friendly climate, cutting-edge companies like Peloton are choosing to expand their footprint in the Lone Star State," said Governor Greg Abbott. "Our successful model of low taxes, workforce investment, and reasonable regulations make Texas the premier economic destination for innovative companies to grow and flourish. I am grateful to Peloton for expanding their presence in Plano and bringing 1,600 new jobs to the community. Together, we will create an even more prosperous future for the state of Texas."

"The City of Plano is ready for the ride with Peloton. Their commitment to expand up to about 1,600 new team members in Plano solidifies the collaboration and partnership we enjoy with this growing company. Their innovation and our excellence is a perfect fit," said Plano Mayor Harry LaRosiliere.

The original Peloton Plano Campus will remain in its current location, with the additional square footage located in an adjacent one-story building. Subject to state and local requirements and approvals, the newly expanded offices are scheduled to open in the summer of 2021, and will quadruple Peloton's total square footage at Legacy Central to 131,268 square feet. In addition to office space, the Plano Campus will serve as a Peloton corporate training hub and include a fully-equipped employee fitness center with Peloton Bikes and Treads.

Peloton worked with CBRE Labor Analytics to explore expansion options in Plano and is working with architectural firm Corgan to design the addition. With the development, Peloton continues to grow its presence in Texas, which includes six showrooms, with one at Legacy West in Plano and a newly-designed Peloton retail experience at NorthPark Center in Dallas, and a Field Operations site in Grand Prairie.
